Editor’s Note

Welcome to the second and third volumes of the Journal of Living Together. This peer-reviewed journal is interested in and attempts to reflect all the various aspects of peaceful relations. Thus, articles, book and literature reviews, and didactic essays on the state of a topic relating to peace are welcome. The journal also invites contributions from across the disciplines and grounded by relevant philosophical traditions, and theoretical and methodological approaches. In addition, a positive or broader conceptualization of peace is embraced; in a world of positive peace, not only is war absent, but human rights are also promoted.

The views expressed in the contributions are those of the authors and do not necessarily represent those of the journal or the International Center for Ethno-Religious Mediation (ICERM). Contributors can consult this volume for the journal’s style or send a request to the ICERM at the following URL: <https://www.icermediation.org/contact/>. The journal will appear annually. Its frequency of appearance will increase as it becomes necessary.

I pray that you will find what appears in these pages not only intellectually stimulating but also useful for promoting peace in the world. I look forward to your feedback and contributions.

In Peace Always
